4:06 The Sunday Feature: War and Words

Jonathan Dimbleby presents a three-part history of twenty momentous years of the last century, from 1936-1956, through the words and recorded soundtrack of events from around the world.

The story is told through the words and witness of the BBC correspondents who reported on the Second World War, the tensions that led up to it and the aftermath left behind when peace was finally restored. It is a chance to hear the voices and reports from across the world as history was recorded.

Part 1: Peace and War

The gathering storm-clouds of war in the 1930s – German rearmament, the Spanish Civil War and the Munich crisis – and the story of the conflict through the so-called Phoney War, the Battle of Britain and the entry of Japan and the USA into the conflict with the attack on Pearl Harbor. It was the moment when radio came into its own and, through rapidly honed reporting skills, became unequalled in its ability to bring back to listeners at home and around the world the gritty reality of combat – in both victory and defeat.
