Online services are charging divorced Muslim women thousands of pounds to take part in sham Islamic marriages. Athar Ahmad examines the controversial practice, known as Halala, which is believed by a small minority of Muslims to be the only way a divorced woman can get back with her husband after a triple talaq - an instant divorce where a man says 'talaq' three times to his wife. But these marriages can leave women open to financial exploitation, blackmail and even sexual abuse. (BBC).
