4:06 The Sunday Feature China's Generation Gap Part 2

Chinese Journalist Haining Liu was born into the 'one-child generation' in the early 1980s. She explores how these political, social and economic changes have affected the relationship between old and young in China. She looks at family life, marriage, divorce, dating, opportunities for women, and how being from the one-child generation has affected her and her peers. She visits a village in the mountains, outside Beijing, to hear from a great grandma in her 80s and four generations of one family to find out how much things have changed in this vast country. (BBC / Just Radio)

5:00 The World at Five

A roundup of today's news and sport

5:10 Heart and Soul Canis Major

Amidst celebrations of the Chinese New Year - the Year of the Dog - cognitive scientist Alexandra Horowitz seizes the occasion to explore how dogs are (and have been) regarded in religious iconography, texts, rituals and beliefs. In her research in dog cognition she explores the dual nature of the dog: how, while they live by and large co-operatively among humans, loving and loved, they also exist in another dimension as olfactory animals, attuned to a world of smells that we are not. Their olfactory acuity enables them to detect disease, to find illegal drugs and hidden explosives and is sometimes seen as an almost psychic, mystical sense. (BBC/Cast Iron)
